CONFERENCE ON LANGUAGE ACQUISITION

For Canada, the issues of bilingualism and biculturalism have always been problems that perhaps question or maybe even define the nature of a "Canadian identity." With the introduction of Bill 22 in Quebec and the threat of separatism that has once again become a near and present danger, confidence in a strong French-English relationship is being tested. Regrettably, the negative side of this relationship seems to receive the most attention in the media. Moreover, the entire question of Canadian unity is often reduced to the form of an impractical debate where concrete solutions are ignored and where aspersions are cast between east and west, French and English.

A large part of the problem is language: second-language acquisition is a difficult process; yet, one must learn the language of another culture to best appreciate it. For this reason, research is essential to find ways in which to expedite second-language acquisition and to explore how a bilingual education affects individuals personally and socially.

It is for this purpose that Stephen Carey of Collège Universitaire Saint-Jean has received a grant of $30,000 from the Secretary of State, Language Programs Branch. The grant will be used to organize and host a conference and workshop on second-language acquisition and related issues. It will be held from 6 to 11 September at the Collège.

The conference has four specific objectives. It hopes to initiate and develop a rational dialogue between researchers and practitioners on the subjects of bilingualism and bilingual education—especially within the provincial context. It will seek to inform teachers, professors, counsellors, researchers, and trustees of significant research related to language acquisition and to promote the communication of these research results as well as their sources. It will promote research in such diverse fields as linguistics, social psychology, and the psychology of learning. Finally, it will professionally summarize extant research literature and derive implications from it for teachers and administrators. It is intended that the proceedings will be published, as was the case in a similar conference held in 1973 where the text, published and edited by Stephen Carey, received a wide circulation among various international academic circles.

The workshops are intended for French teachers who will have the opportunity to discuss their programs with experts. Recent developments in teaching French will be stressed, especially in immersion programs. Major portions of the conference will have simultaneous translation services.

All interested persons are encouraged to attend the conference, for which no registration fee is required. Funds are available for those teachers outside of the city for transportation, lodging, meals, and a substitute teacher. Professors, researchers, and graduate students at Collège Saint-Jean and the main campus of the University and other universities of the province will attend. Many disciplines will be represented: education, psychology, romance languages, linguistics, sociology, and anthropology. Special guests include professors and researchers of other bilingual Canadian universities: Collège Saint-Boniface, University of Quebec at Montreal, and the International Centre for Research on Bilingualism of Laval University.

For further information on the conference, contact Midge Nickolchuk, Dean McMahon, or Dr. Carey of the Collège, telephone 466-2196.

Interdisciplinary Studies

THE CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF UKRAINIAN STUDIES

For many years now Ukrainian immigrants and their descendants have constituted a major element in the Canadian population. This element, however, while especially populous in certain areas of western Canada—for example, in Alberta where in 1971 Ukrainians comprised over 8 percent of the provincial population—has confronted and continues to face problems which are well-known to many Canadians, whether indigenous or immigrant. These problems are concerned for the most part with the maintenance or survival of a distinctive identity within a predominantly "Anglo-American" context. In Canada the rise to affluence of long-established "ethnocultural" communities—that is, communities whose members were originally immigrant—has brought about increased mobility and the consequent loss of knowledge of the original language of the communities, and, indeed, of their backgrounds, history, and literature.

The desire to combat such a loss of identity and a deep concern for the larger Ukrainian community led, in March 1974, to a decision at a meeting in Edmonton of the executive council of the Ukrainian Professional and Business Federation to establish and fund a Canadian Institute of Ukrainian Studies. In April of the same year the decision was endorsed wholeheartedly by academics at the National Conference of Ukrainian-Canadian Studies in Winnipeg. Members of the Federation living in Alberta took up the idea with enthusiasm from the outset and, with minimal delay, drew up a proposal and presented it to the provincial Minister of Advanced Education and Manpower. An enlightened interest on the part of the provincial and University governments soon led to the formal establishment on 1 July 1976 of the Institute on the University campus.

The Canadian Institute of Ukrainian Studies, though situated in the recently renovated Athabasca Hall, should not be considered primarily a provincial establishment whose major concerns are for Ukrainian Canadians resident in Alberta. Rather, the Institute, which receives financial and academic support from the provincial government and the University, is a national body concerned with the predicament of the Ukrainian community as a whole, both in Canada and abroad. The Institute maintains an office at the University of Toronto and through the Federation's Foundation, established in May 1975, supports a special university textbook publication project in Toronto with financial assistance from the Ontario provincial government. The Institute is also closely associated with the Shevchenko Scientific Society at Sarcelles, France, near Paris, in the preparation of a basic text for a four-volume alphabetical Ukrainian encyclopedia (in English). It funds scholars in Europe and the United States and its dimensions are therefore international.

The Institute, which is not a degree-granting establishment, has six primary functions or objectives. It hopes to serve as a resource centre for English-Ukrainian bilingual education, to encourage development of undergraduate and graduate programs in Ukrainian studies, to foster advanced research on problems of vital interest to the Ukrainian community, to act as a clearing house for information on Ukrainian studies among Canadian universities, to sponsor meetings of interested scholars, and to promote the publication of scholarly materials. It is clear, then, that the Institute is oriented toward the academic side of Ukrainian studies. It is directed by Manoly R. Lupul, Professor of Canadian Education History in the Department of Educational Foundations, with Ivan L. Rudnytsky, Professor of Ukrainian and Eastern European History in the Department of History of the University of Alberta, and George S.N. Luckyj, Professor of Ukrainian Literature and Language in the Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures at the University of Toronto, as assistant directors. They are assisted by an Advisory Council whose purpose is to promote Ukrainian studies in an interdisciplinary context at the University of Alberta, and by a National Council of Associates whose role is to assist the Institute in fulfilling its inter-university function.

Already the Institute has made notable progress. Shortly after its inception it began publishing its Newsletter and under the general editorship of G.N. Luckyj published both volumes of its semi-annual Journal of Ukrainian Graduate Studies. The first volume in its "Canadian Library in Ukrainian Studies" appeared in May: Mykola Zerov's Lectures on the History of Ukrainian Literature. The Institute has also been actively engaged in the presentation of seminars, lectures, and conferences. The next such conference on "Ukrainian Canadians, Multiculturalism and Separatism: An Assessment" is to take place at the University of Alberta from 9 to 11 September 1977. The conference is the first in a series on Ukrainians in Canada sponsored by the Institute with a special emphasis on the predicament of Ukrainians who entered Canada since the last World War.

Of immediate interest to students who wish to pursue their academic studies of Ukrainian life and culture is the program of bursaries and scholarships available at the undergraduate and graduate levels. These scholarships, whose details may be gained by applying to the Institute at 335 Athabasca Hall, may be held by Canadian citizens or landed immigrants at any university in Canada or abroad. Travel grants are also available for study in centres closely related to the development of Ukrainian life and to settlements of Ukrainians in Canada.

The Canadian Institute of Ukrainian Studies is a prime example of an imaginative concept which has been brought to fruition by bold and forthright planning. Its responsibility is a major one: to explain the Ukrainian predicament both at home and abroad. From the start already made and the innovative thinking on the part of its founders, it appears to be meeting its responsibility well.

VISITORS

■ Professor Cornelius A. Tobias of the Departments of Biophysics and Medical Physics and the Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory at the University of California, Berkeley, will be visiting the Dr. W.W. Cross Cancer Institute and the Department of Radiology at the University.

Dr. Tobias is a world-renowned authority in the field of radiation biophysics and has pioneered the development of energetic heavy-charged particles for application in biology and medicine. On 25 August, Thursday, he will present the lecture "Accelerated heavy ions—a new tool in biology and medicine." On 26 August, Friday, he will present "Pretherapeutic studies with energetic carbon-, neon-, and argon-particles. Both lectures begin at 11:45 a.m. in the Auditorium of the Dr. W.W. Cross Cancer Institute.

PEOPLE

■ Chris Bullock, Associate Professor of English, attended the first Summer Institute on Marxism and Culture held at St. Cloud State University, Minnesota from 5 June to 19 July. Dr. Bullock gave a presentation entitled "Notes on the British music hall" and was invited to act as moderator in the final evaluation of the Institute.

■ Donald Paradis, Professional Officer, Department of Food Science, received the Graduate Student Paper Award at the Canadian Institute of Food Science and Technology meetings in Guelph. The paper, "The food poisoning potential of bologna in sandwiches," by D.C. Paradis and M.E. Stiles was based on the research for his MSc degree which he completed recently in the Faculty of Home Economics.

NOTICES

STUDENT HOUSING WEEK

The week of 22 through 28 August has been declared Student Housing Week. The Week is intended to make the public aware of the need for off-campus student housing. University students returning to campus this fall will again encounter difficulties in finding suitable housing. Although Edmonton's vacancy rate has increased to 0.2 percent most newly available units are beyond the financial means of students.

All University housing facilities are filled with the exception of the Lister Hall complex. There are long waiting lists for the married students' residences in Michener Park, the North Garneau Housing Community, and HUB.

Landlords are urged to register accommodation with the Student Housing Registry, 280 Students' Union Building, telephone 432-4212.

LOST AND FOUND PROPERTY

Campus Security operates a lost and found registry and is required to destroy or otherwise dispose of a large amount of property each year because no claim is ever registered by owners. The University community should become aware of the lost and found service; if you need assistance, telephone 432-5252 or visit the Campus Security offices north of the Education Centre.

SURPLUS EQUIPMENT

The Purchasing Department wishes to encourage departments on campus to dispose of any surplus equipment that they might have. Disposal of surplus equipment is accomplished by completing a surplus equipment declaration form and forwarding it to the Purchasing Department, General Services Building. Equipment that has been declared as surplus will normally be listed in Folio. Proceeds from the sale of surplus equipment are usually credited to the account from which it was purchased, but this is not always the case. Further information and details about the procedure for disposing of surplus equipment can be obtained by telephoning Bonnie O'Dwyer at 432-3208.

FURNITURE DEPOT

FOR VISITING INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Concerned students at this University are developing a community project in aid of visiting international students: a furniture depot. The plan is to collect, warehouse, and distribute used furniture to incoming visiting students who are in need.

The plan was conceived by Varsity Christian Fellowship after research and discussion with the administration of the International Student Office. Two students have taken on the full-time responsibility of coordinating the depot, and they are asking for useable furniture and kitchen utensils to be donated and gifts of money to help pay for operational costs of the project. They may be contacted through the International Student Office, telephone 432-4145.

SINGLES GROUP ON CAMPUS

Persons who may be interested in forming a singles group on campus are invited to call the Office of Student Affairs, telephone 432-4145 during the day or 483-5992 during the evening.

FOLIO EARLY DEADLINE

Because of the Labor Day weekend, Folio will have an early deadline for the 8 September issue. All copy for that issue will have to be to the Publications Office by 9 a.m. on 1 September, Thursday. This also applies to personal advertisements. The Folio Office has moved to 434 Athabasca Hall.

OPERA GAMBLING CASINO

The Edmonton Opera Guild is sponsoring a gambling casino on 26 August from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. and on 27 August from 12 noon to 12 midnight in the Citadel Theatre. All proceeds will go to the Edmonton Opera Association.

"ON CAMPUS AND OFF" EVENTS POSTER

The Publications Office will begin printing the "On Campus and Off" Events Poster again this year on 15 September. The poster is printed and distributed as a free service to the University and the community. It covers essentially the same material as the Folio's "This Week and Next" column, but it reaches a wider audience. We invite you to send us information about upcoming events such as plays, films, lectures, poetry readings, concerts, art exhibitions, sports events, and so on that are either on or near campus, or that involve or are of interest to University people. The posters are displayed throughout the campus and in various places around the city such as the art gallery, libraries, high schools and colleges, and some shopping centres and similar public places.

In keeping with our printing schedule we ask that you notify us of events approximately one month prior to the event's date. If we can be of any assistance in publicizing your event please call or send a notice to the Publications Office, 434 Athabasca Hall, telephone 432-4991.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT ORIENTATION

The orientation program designed for newly-arrived students from overseas will be held from 30 August to 3 September in 158A Students' Union Building (the Meditation Room). For further information contact the International Student Office, 225 Athabasca Hall or telephone 432-4145.

MATURE STUDENT ORIENTATION

The orientation program focuses on the concerns of mature students resuming their education at this University. It will take place in 158A Students' Union Building (the Meditation Room) on 25 and 26 August. An alternative program is being scheduled for Registration Week, for convenience. For further information contact the Office of Student Affairs, 225 Athabasca Hall or telephone 432-3483.
